

Call for Applications: Travel Scholarships for Participation in the International Summer School "VIII. Greifswalder Polonicum"
(3–8 September 2018)
*Polish as a World Language

The "Greifswalder Polonicum" is an international summer school for science and culture of Poland. It is financed by the Alfried Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach-Stiftung, Essen, Germany. Seminars and evening lectures on Polish culture and language in German, English and Polish held by internationally renowned scholars provide the unique opportunity to learn more about the culture and diversities of Poland from a scientific perspective.

Focusing on the Polish language abroad we are offering the following seminars this year:
Kinga Kozmińska (London): Language ideologies, linguistic practices and family language policy in the Polish-speaking diaspora

Justyna Budzik (Kraków): Polska literatura emigracyjna na kontynencie północnoamerykańskim / Polish Émigré Writers in North America

Kinga Geben (Vilnius): Badania nad językiem polskim na Litwie
